Constipation

Demands prompt treatment. The results of neglect may be serious. Avoid all harsh and drastic purgatives, the tendency of which is to weaken the bowels. The best remedy is Ayer's Pills. Being purely vegetable, their action is prompt and their effect always beneficial. They are an admirable Liver and After-dinner pill, and everywhere endorsed by the profession.

"Ayer's Pills are highly and universally spoken of by the people about here. I make daily use of them in my practice."—DR. I. E. Fowler, Bridgeport, Conn.

"I can recommend Ayer's Pills above all others, having long proved their value as a cathartic for myself and family."—J. T. Hess, Leithsville, Pa.

"For several years Ayer's Pills have been used in my family. We find them an

"I have used Ayer's Pills, for liver troubles and indigestion, during many years, and have always found them prompt and efficient in their action."—L. N. Smith, Utica, N. Y.

"I suffered from constipation which assumed such an obstinate form that I feared it would cause a stoppage of the bowels. Two boxes of Ayer's Pills effected a complete cure."—D. Burke, Saco, Me.

"I have used Ayer's Pills for the past thirty years and consider them an invaluable family medicine. I know of no better remedy for liver troubles, and have always found them a prompt cure for dyspepsia."—James Quinn, 90 Middle st., Hartford, Conn.

"Having been troubled with costiveness, which seems inevitable with persons of sedentary habits, I have tried Ayer's Pills, hoping for relief. I am glad to say that they have served me better than any other medicine. I arrive at this conclusion only after a faithful trial of their merits."—Samuel T. Jones, Oak st., Boston, Mass.

MONEY FOR MARRYING.

A Great Deal Necessary for an Up-to-Date Ceremony.

It Costs Like the Mischief to Belong to the Swell Set and Keep Up with the Fashions—Some of the Requirements.

To get married nowadays consistently with the regulations of fashion is very expensive, even for ordinary folks who desire to keep up appearances. If you do not believe it, just do the sum in arithmetic for yourself, writes a New York correspondent of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

There is the church to begin with. The fee for opening the sacred edifice is one hundred dollars. If you want the choir to sing you must pay one hundred dollars in addition. The clergyman's honorarium is extra. What it shall be you are at liberty to determine, but it is hardly considered proper to give less than twenty-five dollars, whereas one hundred dollars is by no means excessive. At the church, as well as at the house, you must have awnings, and the price for these will be forty dollars.

Flowers are a very important item. The altar has to be decorated, and you cannot make any kind of show for less than two hundred and fifty dollars. For fifty dollars you can only get a few palms. Palms come high because of the risk. If the weather turns cold and they are chilled, they will die, and it takes fifteen or twenty years to grow a palm of decent size. Obviously, the bridesmaids require bouquets, and for each of these you can hardly get off for less than twenty-five dollars. The posies are more apt to come to fifty dollars each at a season when fine roses cost two and three dollars each.

Then there are the bridesmaids' gowns. It is expected that they shall be furnished, and they will cost at least one hundred dollars each. Of course, they are not made so much to please the wearer as to satisfy the requirements of the occasion and the taste of the bride. It can hardly be expected that a bridesmaid shall go to such expense for a frock to be worn perhaps only once, and which is for the benefit of somebody else. Thus, as a mere matter of common sense, it has come to be regarded as the proper thing that these toilets shall be supplied. Necessarily, they are all alike. If there is a maid of honor she must have a dress, too.

A bride may be married in a traveling dress, but for a really swell wedding she must have a special gown, which will hardly cost less than two hundred and fifty dollars. Dressmakers charge extra prices for articles of costume furnished for weddings, by the way. Of incidental expenses there is no end. In New York there is only one woman who knows how to arrange a bride's veil properly. It is her specialty, and she charges accordingly. In fact, she does very little else beside going from one house to another and pinning brides' veils. It is a business that requires a high degree of skill. Unless tulle is handled by skillful fingers, it is very unbecoming. To adjust the wreath of orange blossoms—always artificial, because real orange blossoms quickly fade and have too strong an odor—is an art in itself. It must be put on just so, else it is ugly.

Fashion requires that the bridegroom shall give to each bridesmaid a pin or bracelet, and to each usher a scarf-pin or some such remembrance. It goes without saying that the best man and the maid of honor are not left out. These must be handsome, and fifty dollars each is not too much to pay for them. When he was married to Miss Gould, Count Castellane gave to each of the ushers and bridesmaids a pin the design of which was a C and G tied together in a true lover's knot. The G was in rubies, the knot was of diamonds and the C was in sapphires. Thus were united the national colors of France—red, white and blue. In the above account no mention has been made of the cost of the reception at the house of the bride. It is expected that the drawing-rooms and dining-room shall be profusely decorated with flowers, and in this way five hundred dollars does not go very far. Then there is the "spread," which may run up to almost any price. Among the incidentals are invitations, which are not cheap when one thousand or so of them have to be sent out. On the whole, it is a costly business to get married in these days.

An Ancient Mortgage.

"Speaking about mortgages," said a well-known Minneapolis banker the other day in the midst of a conversation on the eating-up powers of interest, "I was shown a mortgage some time ago down in New York by a banker friend that had a history. It had been in existence just two hundred years, having been given in the year 1695. It was on a piece of property lying in the farming region outside of New York. I don't remember just where. The amount was not large, some six or eight hundred dollars, but it had been kept precisely as it was given in the old Dutch days. The interest had been at 6 per cent. from the very beginning, and it had always been kept up. The document had been in the same family, too, all these many years, and for some reason or other it had never been thought worth while to pay it off. Oddly enough, the present mortgageor had the very same name of the original grantor of the mortgage. The original document was very odd as to form and makeup, but it was sound and staple, and would hold water in the courts to-day as well as the most approved document of the times."

She Was Complimented.

"Tie yer shoe, miss?"

"Yes," hesitatingly; the time of dragging shoe strings had come, but she hated to be reminded of it.

"Put yer foot right thar." He dropped on one knee, and placed his kit to receive the foot, and in a twinkling the strings were tied. Then the young woman fumbled in her purse and produced a nickel.

"I'd ruther not," said the boy, "'cause yer see we want yer for a mascot."

"Oh!"

"We're going into pardnership, me an' Jim—that's my brother—and Crippled Mike, and we agreed that the prettiest young lady we could find should be our mascot—an' you jest filled the bill."—Detroit Free Press.

ABOUT MOSQUITOES.

The Little Pests Get Looked At by a Scientific Eye.

There are supposed to be about one hundred and fifty species of mosquitoes in the world. Already twenty-one species have been identified as native to North America. The largest varieties occur in the tropics, where insect life of all sorts obtains its fullest and most pestiferous development. Nowhere, however, are these bloodsuckers more abundant than in far northern latitudes, as in Arctic Alaska, where they appear in countless swarms during the brief boreal summer. There are at least three or four species of Jersey mosquitoes, one succeeding another during the progress of the seasons. The biggest known mosquito is only found as a fossil, happily. It lived in tertiary times, being contemporary with the mastodon and megatherium. To it has been given the appropriate name of "culex damnatorum," meaning "gnat of the damned."

There is no reason to doubt that mosquitoes carry diseases, says the Washington Star, and they are seriously suspected of propagating yellow fever. It has been noticed that yellow fever comes with them and goes when they depart; also that it is worse in seasons when they are most plentiful and in localities where they are most abundant. But respecting this complaint comparatively little has been definitely ascertained. The mosquito is likewise accused of propagating malaria by carrying the infection from one person to another. This charge is not proven, however.

It has long been known that only the female mosquito bites. The male possesses no lance for inflicting a wound, such as his mate is provided with. The purpose of his existence is merely to perpetuate the species, and he never enters a house unless by accident. The natural food of the female is the juices of plants, and it is not known why she seeks blood. The indulgence seems to be a kind of dissipation with her, like whisky and tobacco with human beings. Unlike the latter, she never gets full but once. Her sting consists of five extremely sharp needles, two of which are barbed. They unite and form an awl, which, having inflicted the puncture, serves as a tube for sucking the blood of the victim. The suggestion that poisonous fluid is introduced into the wound for the purpose of making the blood more liquid is mere theory.

The female mosquito lays her eggs in a boat-shaped mass on the surface of still water. From these the larvae, called "wrigglers," are hatched. When the wriggler considers that he has wriggled long enough he comes to the surface and carefully extricates himself from his skin, which serves as a raft for him to stand upon. This is the danger point of his life, for the least breath of wind may upset the raft and drown him. Happily escaping this fate, he flies away as soon as his wings are dry. If a "she," the insect loses no time in seeking for some animal or person to torture. It has been contended that the larval mosquito has some usefulness, consuming miasmatic germs in the water; but this is more than doubtful.

A POOR OPINION OF US.

An Egyptian Thinks Americans Live in a Filthy Manner.

A communication received from Sheik Dirdari, an Egyptian commissioner to the recent United Presbyterian general assembly, gives various views formed of Pittsburgh and of the assembly, says the United Presbyterian. He says Americans, and especially Pittsburghers, live in a filthy manner. Our hands and faces are quite dirty, he says, but this is because the air is contaminated with a fine black dust. The sheik found it difficult to keep himself clean. He says: "The pavements are very filthy, owing to the habit all the people, men and women, have of expectorating. I think most of the people must be of a class about equal to the Berbers, used in Cairo and Alexandria as doorkeepers and servants. I don't know, though, for many of these people seem to be very rich."

Of the trolley cars, the sheik declares: "It is very strange to see the people riding about in wagons that look like the railroad cars of Egypt, but they run without either steam or horses. They run with a buzzing sound, and I think must be possessed of demons."

In the assembly sessions the sheik says he saw commissioners at times reverently bow their heads low. He discovered a sort of vessel in front of them on the floor, which they guarded carefully with their feet. This was strange to Dirdari, but he found that "the people regard these vessels with the same reverence that the Italians manifest toward the pictures of the Virgin. I learned that this particular idol, the like of which I never saw in my travels, is called 'cuspidor,' but my limited knowledge of English has made it difficult to learn what peculiar traditions are associated with him."

The sheik expressed thankfulness that his people will never take into an Egyptian church this "cuspidor god."

WHY ICE FLOATS.

It Is Specifically Lighter Than Water Just About to Freeze.

Ice is specifically "lighter" than water just about to freeze, and, therefore, floats upon it, says an exchange. There is one reason why the formation of ice usually, but not always, begins at the surface. Another reason is because of its peculiar law of expansion. The general law is that cold induces contraction. This holds good in the case of water only to a certain point. When water has cooled down to within 7.4 degrees of freezing it ceases to contract as before, and, with increased cold, actually begins to expand, and continues to do so until it freezes. This expansion causes the colder portions of the water to rise to the surface.

Above we have said that ice does not always begin to form at the surface of the water. The exception is in the case of what is known as "ground" or "anchor ice." In this case the whole body of the water is cooled at the same time to below the freezing point, and the substances at the bottom, such as the stones and pebbles of river or lake beds, serve as a nucleus or point of congelation and crystallization for the water. This rare species of ice is formed under such peculiar circumstances that others than students and experimenters seldom see it.

BLUE RAYS KILL GERMS.

It Is Shown That the Upper End of the Sun's Spectrum Does the Slaughtering.

Although investigation has not been idle, experimenters have not been wholly agreed as to the exact property or field of the sun's rays which is most efficient in action on bacteria and fungi, says Popular Science Monthly.

The inquiry has been continued by Prof. H. Marshall Ward, to whom the thought occurred in the course of his work that the most direct answer to the question: "Which rays are the most effective ones?" might be best attained by shining the solar spectrum directly upon the film of spores and making it record the effects by their subsequent behavior, according as the different groups of rays fell upon them—in other words, by obtaining a photograph of the spectrum in living and dead bacteria.

The results showed conclusively that the rays that kill the bacteria are the blue and violet ones. An observation was made during the investigation which may go far to account for the unsatisfactory character of the determinations of former experiments.

The chief difficulty to be overcome was the great weakening of the intensity of the dispersed rays of the beam of light decomposed to form the spectrum—a weakening caused by the distribution of the incidence of the rays over a larger area and by their absorption and reflection in passing through the lenses and prisms.

It was found, also, in working with the electric light, that the power of the blue and violet rays was further impaired—in other words, that they were stopped—by the material (glass) through which they had to pass.

The effect of the glass was practically the same as that of mist or haze in the atmosphere, which so filters out the blue-violet rays that the light of a dull day was of little effect in the author's experiments.

These difficulties were overcome by using quartz instead of glass, with which it was possible to obtain a very pure spectrum sufficiently rich in blue and violet rays to kill the spores in a few hours. The author found it easy to obtain satisfactory results in the summer with solar rays, even with glass lenses, mirrors, etc., and exposures of five or six hours, but in winter the exposures required to be so long as to be almost impracticable.

QUEER USE OF A CIGAR.

Story Which Shows a Sea Captain's Presence of Mind.

A good story is told of a sea captain who died not long ago and who was formerly in command of a ship in which passengers were carried from London to Lisbon. On one occasion, says Tit-Bits, the ship caught fire and the passengers and crew were compelled to take hurriedly to the boats. The captain remained perfectly cool throughout all the confusion and fright of the debarkation, and at last everyone except himself was got safely into the boats.

By the time he was ready to follow the passengers were almost wild with fear and excitement. Instead of hurrying down the ladder the captain called out to the sailors to hold on a minute, and, taking a cigar from his pocket, coolly lighted it with a bit of burning rope which had fallen from the rigging at his feet. Then he descended with deliberation and gave the order to push off.

"How could you stop to light a cigar at such a moment?" he was asked afterward, when some of the passengers were talking over their escape.

"Because," he answered, "I saw that if I did not do something to divert the minds of those in the boat there was likely to be a panic, and overcrowded as it was, there was danger of the boat being upset. The act took but a moment, but it attracted the attention of everybody. I was not nearly so unconcerned as I seemed to be, but was in reality in a fever of excitement. My little plan succeeded. You all forgot yourselves because you were thinking of my curious behavior, and we got off safely."

WAYS OF NOTED MEN.

GARRICK was generally so quiet that he often created the impression of diffidence.

HENRY CLAY was said to make the most engaging bow of any gentleman of his time.

MARCUS AURELIUS was said to be the politest Roman emperor who ever sat on the throne.

DANTE was solitary in his habits, and, by his austerity, chilled most of those whom he met.

MILTON was quiet and reserved in conversation, but thoroughly refined and well bred.

SYDNEY said that the soul of politeness lay in preferring the happiness of others to your own.

PHILIP of Macedon was courteous to all who approached him, even the humblest being sure of a hearing.

PIUS IX., both before and after his elevation to the pontifical chair, was a model of studied politeness.

MOHAMMED inculcated politeness in the Koran. He himself was one of the most courteous of men.

ANDREW JACKSON was rough in his manners, but could be polite when he pleased. He was always courteous to ladies.

Curious Custom in Holland.

When young Queen Wilhelmina visited the other day the marvelous vaults at Maestriche, which are one of the sights of the place, she was requested by the authorities to inscribe her name upon a marble slab in the wall, which bears the signatures of many other sovereigns, Dutch and foreign, prominent among them being the autograph of the first Napoleon. Just at the very moment when she was about to comply with the request three tiny gnomes sprang out from behind a pillar and exclaimed in accordance with the time-honored custom: "Who are you that dares add your name to that of William the Silent and of the many illustrious rulers of the Netherlands?" Queen Wilhelmina, who had been prepared for this little piece of pantomine, replied: "I am the daughter of this King William III. whose signature you see here, and his successor to the throne of Holland," whereupon the gnomes—three small boys dressed up for the occasion—bowed low, received some coin, and retired.

THE BLACK ART.

Signs of a Revival of the Practice of Voodooism.

Different Methods in Vogue of Casting Spells and Bewitching—Need of a Reform in the Old Style Hoodoo.

Modern occultism, or, to put it in diplomatic costume, l'occultisme moderne, is becoming decidedly aggressive, to say the least of it, if we are to believe the Revue Illustree. Strange as the news may appear, says the New York Sun, it is nevertheless reported that the black art is flourishing fiendishly both in Europe and America.

Casting a spell upon an individual, or, as they say on the Bowery, "hoodooing a fellow," has not, according to the Revue, fallen into innocuous desuetude. We all remember the scene depicted by Alexandre Dumas in the Reine Margot, in which the performer of Catherine Medicis plunges a golden needle into the heart, or rather the place where the heart ought to be, of a little wax statuette modelled in the image of King Charles IX. But the magicians of the present day have brought modern improvements into the art. They practice three kinds of hoodooism, according to the caprice of the client and the degree of hatred with which he is possessed. In one they use a toad, in another a doll, and in a third they operate l'esprit volant, or, in other words, they remove the spirit and place it temporarily just where they want it.

Here are the prescriptions for the three methods: You take a toad, male or female, according to the sex of the person whom you wish to reach. You baptize it as you would a child, giving it the full name of your enemy. While you are committing this sacrilege, you must endeavor to work yourself up into a paroxysm of hatred toward your victim, and you must sandwich the sacramental words with the most horrible imprecations. Then you inflict upon the toad all the tortures that your imagination can suggest, for your enemy is bound to suffer correspondingly. If you take an eye out of the toad, your enemy will lose an eye, etc. In America, according to the Revue, the Black Crooks have recourse to a more summary expedient. They bury the toad at the threshold of the residence of the person selected for a victim, with the result that he dies as if suffocated.

The doll method is the most ancient and the most classic. It requires a wax figure called a "manie," resembling the victim as much as possible. It is also necessary to have some little objects that belonged to the victim, or better yet, one of his teeth, portions of his nails, or one or two hairs of his head. You mix these things in with the wax of the doll and baptize it. Then, just like the poisoner of Catherine de Medicis, you stick a pin into the figure. If at that moment your enemy is even flirting with a young woman, he immediately begins to suffer from palpitation of the heart (naturally enough) if he does not die from suffocation.

The proceeding a l'esprit volant is the latest improvement in this science, and it is the child of hypnotism. In order to execute it you must have a subject whose astral body, which we are told is of a fluid nature, will abandon the material body on your order and transport itself toward your victim. It slips into his veins the poisons which you have learned how to volatilize. The operation terminated, you return the astral body to its carnal dwelling, and you arouse the subject. The crime is committed without anybody in the world being able to accuse you, and you are left alone with your conscience. But the conscience of a Black Crook is particularly elastic.

Now, that is the way they work the machine, and the Revue refuses to reveal the places where the ceremonies are performed, for fear of leading its readers into temptation. It is better, it says, to let them believe that the business of casting spells belongs to the domain of fables. But the surprising thing about it is that men of learning and apparently endowed with common sense indulge in this kind of rubbish. Witnesses well worthy of belief have told extraordinary stories of a certain Col. de Rochas, stories that outdo the wildest inventions of the "Devil on Two Sticks." Col. de Rochas, we are told, has discovered a method of "exteriorizing the sensations of individuals." Asmodeus used to put the souls of Christians who died impenitent into bottles; but M. de Rochas, more ingenious than Asmodeus, concentrates and dissolves in a glass of water the sense of enjoyment and of suffering of a subject previously magnetized. If this water is boiled, the subject writhes like St. Laurent on his gridiron; and if, on the contrary, the water freezes, the unfortunate victim becomes blizzardly cold.

Like the story of "Jack and the Bean Stalk," all this may not be as true as the Bible, but in these days of advancement why shouldn't the black art be reformed and rejuvenated just like our own ever glorious city government?

Protecting His Chickens.

A Sangerville (Me.) man has baffled the hen hawks, and so far the laugh is all on his side. He makes a large yard for his chicken coop, putting boards around the sides to prevent escape from the inclosure, and over this he stretches wire netting with coarse meshes. Inside the hen and chickens run at will free from attacks of every sort. A number of times since he made this arrangement his family have been entertained by the antics of the hawks who swoop down upon their supposed prey all unaware of the interposed netting. Fetching up against it has seemed a great puzzle to to them, for they flutter around on it so greedy for their prey that they can scarcely believe the chicks beyond their reach.

Balled Up.

Lawyers are not more free than other public speakers from slips of the tongue. Mr. Asquith, of the English cabinet, in a recent speech in parliament, said: "Let it be known, gentlemen, that of those just demands we abate not one jit or tottle!" A few days later an English judge, after a policeman had testified that he had found the prisoners in bed with their clothes on, asked, in amazement: "Do you mean to say that they had gone to boot with their beds on?"

CHASED BY AN ELEPHANT.

Miraculous Escape of a Hunter in the Indian Jungle.

The author of "Gun, Rifle and Hound" narrates an adventure which befell him and two companions, "Will" and "F——," in Ceylon. "One of the most miraculous escapes ever known in elephant-shooting," he calls it. F——, it should be said, was a famous killer of elephants, and had brought with him a native tracker well used to the business; "a little wizened-up creature, but absolutely fearless." They were in search of a notorious rogue elephant, which had killed so many men and done so much other mischief that the government had put a reward of fifty dollars upon his head.

We started early in the morning, and were soon on the fresh tracks of the brute. He was evidently moving pretty fast. The tracker followed the trail almost at a trot, and it was rather hot work keeping him in sight. At last it was obvious that we were close upon the elephant, which was heading more and more into the thickest jungle.

"Nasty, dangerous brute," whispered F——; "we shall hear him before we see him."

A minute or two more and the tracker stopped and pointed to a branch which was still oscillating violently. The elephant could not be a minute ahead of us. We all stopped and looked intently among the thick trees.

With a scream of rage the rogue crashed out at us. We all fired, I think. The tracker ran toward Will, the elephant close after him. Will fired again, and turned to run. The tracker had slipped out of the way. F—— and I ran after the elephant, reloading as we ran. He was gaining rapidly on our poor friend.

"Round a tree!" shouted F——, "round a tree!" Will made for the nearest one, the elephant not two lengths behind him, and we still forty yards behind.

To our horror we saw Will catch his foot in something and go down at full length. F—— groaned with despair, and dropping on my knee I fired two barrels uselessly into the brute's hindquarters.

Then came the miracle. Whether the blood from half a dozen wounds had blinded the elephant, or Will's sudden disappearance into the long grass had deceived him, I cannot say, but half stopping, he turned and made off into the jungle, where we lost him, after following him for hours.

DWARFING DOGS.

Taken from Their Mothers in Infancy They Are Bred to Lilliputian Size.

Specialists and doctors who take an interest in the progress of alcoholism, its injurious action on generation and the part it plays in degeneracy will be glad to add another branch to their study in the shape of the falsification of dogs, says the New York World. For falsification of dogs exists in Paris and thrives, just as well as the imitators of Japan ware, old furniture and pictures of Corot, Teniers and Rubens. Ask for a bottle of Chartreuse in any grocery store of Paris and you will be served with a bottle of Charmeuse, and as to truffles, diamonds, champagne and coffee, imitators of these have obtained too lofty a station for them to care for criticism of their products.

It was generally supposed that the animal reign had not yet been tampered with, so that most persons will be surprised that the French have recently discovered a method of producing tiny dogs, which, when offered for sale on the boulevards or in the Bois de Boulogne, fetch good prices on account of their rarity. Like all other callings, competition is about to cut down the profits of the originators of the idea and next summer visitors are promised any number of lilliputian dogs at an insignificant price.

This is how the diminutive animal is produced: Snatched from its mother's breast when it is but a few hours old, it is put on an alcoholic diet instead of a lacteal diet. When it reaches a certain age alcohol under different form constitutes almost the sole diet of the animal. The young dogs do not die, but, what is far more important, they do not develop and appear to be wasting away continually. They soon cease to grow entirely. By coupling these products the lilliputian animal is obtained after two or three generations. What a terrible lesson for drunkards and absinthe consumers!

SPARKS FROM THE CABLE.

ENDEAVORS are now being made in England to establish the Sabbatica year, one year's rest in seven, for school-teachers.

LISBON will have a great festival next June to commemorate the seven hundredth anniversary of Saint Anthony, of Padua, who was born there in 1195.

ABBEYLEIX, in Leinster, is troubled over a venerable pauper of 105, who, having been a Protestant all his life, has now concluded to become a Catholic.

THE Berlin Street Car company paid $250,000 into the treasury of the city for the privilege of crossing the principal avenue, Unter den Linden, at one point.

FROM Venice comes the announcement that the bodies in the old Protestant cemetery, where many Americans and Englishmen are buried, are to be removed to the new municipal cemetery.

POET'S CORNER in Westminster Abbey is hidden from the outside by a block of old houses. These are to be torn down next summer as a precaution against fire, thus allowing the architecture of the chapel of Henry VII. and the old Chapter House to be seen from that side.

The Women of Spain.

On Mrs. Lang's showing in the Humanitarian the life of a Spanish woman must be dull enough. But of course there is everything in the point of view. The Spanish woman evidently has neither our ambition nor our uncomfortably developed sense of tedium. She has no aspirations for a wider horizon, she has no desire for a university education, or a parliamentary vote or a profession to render her independent. She is perfectly satisfied with life as it is; she has no responsibilities, money affairs being attended to by her male relatives and housekeeping being looked after by the servants; she has plenty of dancing, flirtation and intrigue, which is carried to a science and is her chief amusement in life. What more can she possibly want? would be her answer to your query as to whether her existence realized her ideal of happiness.

SIMPLE SAVAGES.

How They Bunco a Whisky Pirate Out of a Sloop Loaded with Liquor.

The Indians of the west coast of Vancouver island have adopted a novel and decidedly effective method of dealing with white whisky pirates who frequent their villages, as James Johnson, of Victoria, formerly master of the sealing schooner Kilmany, knows to his cost. He had come to the conclusion that there was big money for the man who made a systematic tour of the west coast with bottled samples of gin and whisky.

Accordingly, says the San Francisco Examiner, he purchased a small trading sloop, loaded her with a cargo of stimulants and sailed for Barclay sound some time ago. There, for a few days, he did a rushing business retailing his low-grade intoxicants at five to ten dollars per bottle. The Indians knew they were being robbed and remonstrated, but no reduction in the price was made.

Then they held a council and a great plan was evolved. The aid of the Indian police was secured, and while the master of the sloop slumbered he was surrounded, made prisoner, handcuffed and led in triumph to the village. In vain he pleaded for release. He was told he would be held until the coming of the police patrol and then delivered to the officers for supplying liquor to Indians. This meant a fine of at least two hundred dollars and the confiscation of his craft, so he determined to suggest terms, and his offer of the sloop and its cargo for his freedom was quickly accepted. The cargo was consumed in a single night by the dusky diplomats in celebrating the success of their Napoleonic stroke of generalship.

VARIETIES OF IDLENESS.

Some Persons Do Nothing from Choice, Others Per Force.

Idleness plays many parts. There are the constitutionally indolent—those who, like Dr. Johnson, are never, physically, ready to get up in the morning, but who, like him, are possessed of a conscience which compels them now and again to face the reflection of what they have—compared with what they might have—done, and to stand aghast at the comparison.

There are those, says Chambers' Journal, whom circumstances have made idle—riches, absence of motive for exertion; ill-health, real or fancied; indulgent friends, and much more often by self-indulgence. That idleness is one of the seven deadly sins gives them no sort of concern; it is of the essence of their complaint to have no feeling of their own infirmity. They are asleep; they cannot tell their dreams, for they do not even know that they are dreaming.

Giving up, nerveless relaxation, has become a habit, and to them—as to the immortal Mr. Toots, though from a different motive—nothing is of any consequence. But whereas it was his own convenience, his own feelings, his own comfort, that never were of consequence to the unselfish Toots, it is precisely your convenience, your feelings, your comfort, that are, to the idle man, of no consequence. Floating idly about "on the great Pacific ocean of indolence" he makes first one compromise, then another, with self-respect, until he ends by sacrificing the esteem of his fellow-men on the private altar of his own sloth. His affairs get first muddled, then embarrassed, then decaying, then desperate, and he feebly flatters himself with an idea of repose, now, that all is gone.

OLD WORLD AND NEW.

Asia Stands Still While Europe and America Push Forward.

The common phrases, the old world and the new world, have gained an application which would hardly have been given them had men known in the past what they know now, that America is, geologically considered, probably the oldest of the continents and that man perhaps inhabited the western hemisphere as early as he did the eastern. In view of this fact, says Lippincott's Magazine, it might not be amiss to suggest a different application of these phrases by giving to Asia the title of the old world and to Europe and America that of the new world, leaving the remaining sections of the earth to fit into the division to which they logically belong.

For Asia is the static realm of mankind; Europe and America are the dynamic. Asia is at rest with the dead past; Europe and America are pushing forward into the living future. Asia, in its political conditions, its religions, its learning and its literature, its science and industry, remains in close touch with the world of three thousand years ago; Europe and America in all these conditions have left the old world ages behind them and are building for themselves a new world vitally distinct from that of ancient days.

He Will Succeed.

Like his brother of the north, the southern small boy is capable of much. A writer in the New York Home Journal says that upon her arrival in a southern town her cabman was a small boy, aged about nine. The cab had two seats, and the boy told her that if during her stay she wanted a carriage, she could get him any time by inquiring for Jackson's express—price six bits an hour.

"Are you Jackson?" I asked.

"Yes, ma'am," said the expressman, politely, and with great dignity. Then, lasping into boyishness, he added: "You see, this used to be our carriage. But papa died, and mamma isn't strong—and there isn't much money—and—"

Something certainly filled the boy's throat, for his voice broke, and, hastily becoming a cabman again, he tightened the reins and indulged in a flourish of the whip. But after a little he turned about and added:

"It's a real comfort, I think, to earn your living."

A Great Lighthouse.

On the Pointe de Penmarch, in Brittany, the southwestern point of the Finisterre promontory, midway between Brest and L'Orient, a new lighthouse is being erected whose light will be seen one hundred miles in clear weather, and from twenty-five to twenty-eight miles when the weather is hazy. It will be an electric light of ten million candle power, and will rise one hundred and eighty-five feet above the sea level, and is to be ready by the beginning of 1897.

Buckwheat, late, and also potatoes pasturage, tobacco and fruit. Frost on 22nd slightly damaging to corn, buckwheat and truck vines.

JUDGE BIDDLE, Cumberland county, has filed an opinion which interperts the new fee bill relative to constables' and justices' costs deciding that the fee for serving a warrant does not entitle the constable to $1 for each defendant, but for all. The suit was brought by W. D. Humer, constable of Carlisle, against the county commissioners in a case stated, which will effect every constable in the state.

ACCORDING to a New York Herald special dispatch, the Princess Colonna, the stepdaughter of the California millionaire Mr. John W. Mackay, has agreed to pay Prince Colonna 60,000 francs yearly in settlement of their matrimonial difference. The Princess retains the custody of the children. She is to be congratulated on unloading her Prince so cheaply. It would cost her a great deal more to keep him.

IF the combine people tell the truth, the Quay leaders have been guilty of attempting to bribe delegates, and are therefore subject to criminal indictment, fine or imprisonment. If the Quay leaders tell the truth, the combine leaders, from governor down, have been equally guilty. No Republican who has intelligently and carefully watched the down-grade of his party in Pennsylvaaia will deny than both sides are telling the truth.

JUDGE WALLACE, of Lawrence county, has decided the liveryman's act to be unconstitutional, because the title of the act does not conform to the matter in the body of the act. The case which brought forth the decision was that of the commonwealth vs. Charles Moore, who was charged with abusing a livery rig. The young man was found guilty, and when sentence was to be passed his attorneys moved to arrest judgment on the grounds that the law was unconstitutional. The man was discharged from punishment.

IT is shown by an analysis of census figures that more than half the men in twenty-eight of the forty-nine states and territories are engaged in agriculture, and that farming is the leading pursuit in all of them except New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut and New Jersey, where manufacturing and mechanical arts take the lead. There are in the United States 9,000,000 men engaged in agriculture to 9,220,900 in other forms of business. The steady growth of this country is sufficient proof that intelligent farming pays.

A TELEGRAM from Harrisburg, this (Wednesday) afternoon says that Quay was elected chairman of the Republican state committee by acclamation. People whose opinions were unbiased have been of the opinion for some time that the drift was toward Quay and the result is as expected. Quay's banners have been badly torn and the factional fight has let out some secrets that are not to the credit of the g. o. p. in Pennsylvania, but the result of the fight makes it clear that Senator Quay will command the forces for some time to come. Soldier Dan may now put in his time wondering how he ever was thought of for governor.

THE Chicago Record reports that at a recent meeting of representatives of the Western Freight and Traffic Association in that city the question of moving the present corn crop, the largest in the history of the land, came up. In the course of the discussion it was said that with the present modes of transportation it would take more than two years to move the corn out of Kansas and Iowa to Eastern points for European shipment. And corn is only one item in the output of the mighty West! It is no wonder the employes of the railway car shops are working night and day in the effort to provide sufficient rolling stock for the proper handling of this immense volume of traffic.

THE first conviction for dueling in Mexico, although the law has long forbidden that deadly pastime, has just been secured in the City of Mexico after a trial which lasted from Monday of last week until an early hour on Sunday morning. For killing Colonel Verastegui in a duel on August the ninth, Colonel Francisco Romero has been found guilty after a most sensational trial and sentenced to three years and four months imprisonment with a fine of $1800, or 100 days' additional imprisonment if preferred. Romero must also pay $4500 annually to the widow of Verastegui, in monthly installments, for eighteen years, and the costs of the funeral of Verastegui, amounting to $460. The costs of the trial he is also liable for.

THE following act which was approved on the 26th of June last, interests politicians and aspirants for office: "That whoever writes, prints posts or distributes, or causes to be written, printed, posted or distributed, a circular, poster, cartoon or other written or printed paper, which is designed or tends to injure or defeat any candidate for nomination or election to public office by reflecting upon his personal character or political actions, unless the same shall be published in a newspaper avowedly responsible therefor, or unless there appears upon such circular poster or paper in a conspicuous place either the name of the chairman and secretary or at least the name of two officers of the political or other organization issuing the same, or the name of some registered elector with description of his election district, as responsible therefor, shall be punished by fine not exceeding $100, or by imprisonment in jail not exceeding six months, or both and if the statements are untrue, the person so offending shall be deemed guilty of libel, and may be prosecuted in the civil or criminal courts."

ATTENTION is called by Secretary John D. Worman, of the Jeffersonian societies, to the necessity of immediate and efficient club organization, as urged by President Cleveland in his letter to Chauncey F. Black, and by Secretary Carlisle and Postmaster General Wilson. The state conventions of past years recommend all Democratic people and workers to join in this work. The Democratic societies of Pennsylvania meet in general assembly at Lancaster on September 5. It is expected that Secretary Carlisle and Postmaster General Wilson and many other distinguished leaders will be there. Chairman of city and county committees are urged to get the Democrats together in their several localities to organize societies and elect deputies. "The hope of our political enemies is in Democratic default," says Major Worman. "It is the enemy we should fight and not ourselves." For rates and other information letters should be addressed to the secretary at Phialdelphia.

TALK about a higher duty on tinplate is rather tardy now, when the present rate of 1. 2 cents per pound has been in force for a year with no injurious effect upon the industry in this country. Moreover, in spite of the dismal predictions of the duty from 2. 2 cents to 1. 2 cents per pound the tinplate industry in the United States has grown under the new tariff as never before. Tin and Terne, a Pittsburg publication, expresses the hope that the rate of duty will be increased to 1.75 cent "as soon the party favoring protective duties again comes into full power." The eagerness of manufacturers to engage in the manufacture of tin plate under the present rate of duty shows how extortionate and how excessive, even from the protectionist standpoint, was the duty of 2. 2 cents per pound imposed by the tariff act of 1890. Those who are counting upon an increase in the duty on tinplate are deluding themselves with false hopes.

THIS is the way Senator Lexlow put it in the much talked of interview relative to returning prosperity. "What does the senator think of the political situation?" asked a traveler of an intimate and confidential friend of one of the Republican leaders at Washington. "He is very sorry," was the frank reply. "that this wave of prosperity has come so soon. While he does not regret that the people are more prosperous, he thinks it would have been better for the party if the revival of business could have been delayed a year or so longer." "What does he think of the political outlook?" was the next question. The answer was: "He is much disturbed about it. A few months ago he thought the Republicans were going to have things all their own way, but now he fears that this revival in business, and especially the general increase in wages, will blind the people to the real facts of the situation."

FREE wool is surely working wonders for labor. Careful and conservative lists show that since the Wilson reduced tariff took effect last autumn there has been an increase of wages in fifty American woolen mills. This is quite phenomenal, and no logical explanation of the facts is possible save that the great boom of free wool which the Wilson bill gave American woolen manufacturers has enabled them to expand and branch out as they have never before done. The woolen industries are placed by the new tariff on high vantage ground for obtaining satisfactory sales of their products both at home and abroad. Free trade in raw wools is a bonanza of untold value to them. This is the logic of the greatly improved and improving situation in all American woolen mills.

A DISPATCH from Niagara Falls N. Y. on Monday says: After almost five years of work and the expenditure of $3,000,000, Niagara has been harnessed and power generated by the monster 5,000 horse power dynamos. The Cataract construction company is now giving out the electricity for commercial use. The first power was delivered to the works of the Pittsburg reduction company here this morning. At the reduction company's works the pots used in the making of aluminum are being tested to-day, and to-morrow the real work begins. The power from the power house is sent over copper cables laid in a conduit to the aluminum works. Everything was found to work perfectly and great satisfaction was expressed by the officers.

THE iron output these days is the largest which the country has ever had at this time of the year. Moreover, it is steadily growing. This is one of the most striking evidences which could be found that a period of business activity exceeding any which the country has yet known is close at hand.

Indians Murdered.

Portland, Ore., August 26.—A dispatch received last night from Burns, Ore., said:

A courier from Diamond Valley reports the killing of 15 Bannocks by cattlemen under the leadership of "Rye" Smith. Smith's reason was revenge for the murder of his father in 1878 in Diamond Valley.

There is great excitement in the town and through the country. Troop A is in readiness to march on short notice and is awaiting orders from the county sheriff for authority to act.

Indians are reported as approaching the town from the South, but are believed to be friendly.

Diamond Valley is situated in the southeastern corner of Oregon. Burns, the county seat of Harney county, is 150 miles distant from Ontario, the nearest telegraph office. Ontario is a small station on the Oregon Short line near the border between Oregon and Idaho. The news is not credited here, as it was not known that any Bannock Indians were in the vicinity.

At Ontario it is believed there is some truth in the rumor, but no further information can be secured until the arrival of the stage to night. There is a daily stage from Ontario, Heppner and Baker City to Burns, the county seat of Harney county, but the seat of the reported massacre is more than a 100 miles southeast of Burns. Burns is 150 miles from Ontario, and it requires about 48 hours for the stage to make the journey.

"Rye" Smith said to be the leader of the cowboys, is known to be a bad character. If the Bannock Indians were in that vicinity they were there for the purpose of hunting.

A Sioux City Tragedy.

Sioux City, Ia., August 25—Early this morning in a disorderly house occurred what was probably a murder and suicide. Max Noack, of Marcus, Ia., was found dead in a room with a bullet wound in his brain. By his side lay Hazel Hammond, an inmate of the house, with a bullet wound in her head. The doors of the room in which the bodies were found were locked and had to be broken into. The lamp had been overturned and the clothing of the dead had commenced to burn when the tragedy was discovered. The cause of the shooting is unknown.

Noack had been in the city only a few weeks, and was but little known. Hazel Hammond, or Ora Minton, as her right name is said to be, is said to have come from Central City, Neb., where her parents are reported to live. Noack, it is believed, was trying to induce the woman to leave the live she was leading and return to her home and that when she refused he shot her and then killed himself. It is reported by some that Noack was the woman's half brother, and by others that he was her husband. Noack formerly worked at Grand Island and Lincoln, Neb. The doctors to night say the woman may live.

Knife in His Hand

New Castle, Pa., August 24.—A most remarkable case was brought to the notice of New Castle physicians this morning. Ten years ago last June Horace Graham, a well-known young man about the city, got into a fight with another young man, during which he was badly cut on the wrist. The wound healed and gave him no trouble until one day this week, when the pain became intense and he called in a physician, who found that an abcess had formed. This morning there was removed from the young man's wrist two inches of the knife blade. The point was almost against the palm of the hand, with the sharp edge of the knife toward the skin. So deeply and tightly was it imbedded the physicians were obliged to cut it out. Graham supposes that during the fight he was struck with the knife and the blade broke off.

New Jersey Forest Fires.

Cape May, N. J., August 25.—The forest fires have broken out again near this place. Gangs of men from the West Jersey railroads have been fighting the fires all day in the neighborhood of Goshen. Fifty acres of land have been burned away. A heavy wind fanned the flames all night, but this evening the wind died out and the farmers hope to control the fire by to-morrow.

The fires have been sweeping towards East Vineland. The farmers at New Italy are alarmed and fear their entire crop will be lost. A fire brigade has been organized to fight the flames, and the men are now trying to stop the burning grass and timber before it reaches that place. Some of the finest timber land and cranberry bogs in the state have been destroyed.

Several Will Die.

Toledo, O., August 25.—There is little change to-day in the condition of the persons who were injured in the City of Toledo accident last evening. Those who were kept in this city are at the Toledo hospital, where they are given best of medical attention. The physicians stated this evening that death was only a question of time with the majority of the persons who were injured, and there is no possible chance for their recovery.

The schooner Magdeline Downing was towed into the docks this afternoon, in a badly dilapidated condition. Her port bow is torn away for nearly 20 feet, and jibboon and standing canvas is torn away. The City of Toledo was placed in the dry dock this evening and will be immediately repaired.

A Bank Clerk's Arrest.

Denver, Col., August 25.—Acting under advice from Philadelphia, Acting Postmaster McAchan caused the arrest of Fred Wentz last night in St. Cloud, a resort in Colorado near the Wyoming border. Wentz was brought to Denver this evening and lodged in jail, where he looked much out of place with his white kid shoes and fashionable attire. Wentz is employed in a Philadelphia bank and was in Colorado on a vacation. He is charged with sending drugs through the mails to a young woman for the purpose of committing a criminal act. The woman, after taking a portion of the medicine, became frightened and exposed Wentz. He will be tried in Denver. The penalty is a term in the penitentiary. The authorities have the drug.

Our Commissioners Said to be prisoners.

London, August 24.—A special dispatch from Shanghai says that the members of the commission which recently left Foo Chow for Cheng Tu, in order to investigate the recent massacre of missionaries there, are virtually prisoners, and that Commander Newell, of the United States steamship Detroit, has gone to Cheng Tu to consult with Mr. J. C. Hixson, the United States consul at Foo Chow, who is the leading member of the commission, about the landing of marines for his protection and for the protection of the other members of the commission.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Tried to kill Him.

Paris, August 25.—It would appear that a serious attempt has been made upon the life of Baron Alphonse de Rothschild. A large and heavy envelope was received at the bank addressed to the baron and was opened by M Zadkovitz, the confidential clerk of the well known banker. Just as the clerk tore open the envelope it exploded with great force, tearing his right eye out and blowing off some of his fingers.

The police were hastily summoned, and an investigation was immediately commenced. The remains of the strange envelope were picked up and examined, with the result that the police officers expressed the opinion that the envelope was nothing more than an infernal machine.

It consisted of pieces of cardboard tightly bound together and was quite bulky. But there was nothing strange in its appearance, as peculiarly constructed packages of similar appearance are frequently received at banks and are found to contain money, securities or valuable papers of various descriptions. The cardboard envelope of this package, it is presumed, contained fulminate of mercury so arranged that when the outer covering was torn open an explosion occurred.

A Mother's Terrible Deed.

Portland, Ore., August 26.—A sad story of a mother's murder of her boy and a subsequent attempt at suicide is reported in a special to the Oregonian from Independence.

The wife of James Tetthrow, a well to-do farmer near the Lackamile River, arose before the others of the family were awake, and, wrapping her six-year-old boy in a quilt, took him to the river and held his head under water until life was gone.

Throwing the body into the river, she returned to the house, awakened her husband, and asked him to go for a doctor.

The husband put her off and rolled over to go to sleep. The wife again left the house, but this time was followed.

She went to the river and threw herself in, but was quickly rescued, though she fought her rescuers with desperation.

When the boy was missed she told how she had taken him to a "nice bathing pool, and, although he clung to my neck and begged me not to, I put him in and held his head under the water." Mrs. Tetthrow is thought to be insane.

After Twenty Years.

Washington, August 26.—The will of the late Joseph Holt, judge advocate general of the United States army during the war, was filed to-day. The instrument was witnessed 20 years ago by Generals Grant and Sherman and Mrs. Sherman. The estate, valued at from $200,000 to $300,000, is left to Lizzie Hynes, a niece, and Josephine Hart Throckmorton, a godchild. Judge Holt died here several months ago, leaving no will that could be found. This morning the register of wills received in the mails a letter containing an old, faded and partially burned sheet of paper, which on examination purported to be an old will of Judge Holt's. There was no communication accompanying the paper to show the sender or the motive for transmitting it to the register.

The executor of the will thus strangely found is Mr. Devlin, a clerk in the war department, who was the confidential secretary of Judge Holt when the will was written. He has identified the writing. About $9,000 of the estate has been distributed to the heirs-at-law, and a contest may follow the appearance of the old will.

Judge Wilson's Opinion.

Little Rock, Ark., August 25.—Judge Wilson yesterday dismissed the prosecution against Mrs. Noe, who was arrested last Thursday for appearing on the streets in bloomers. In delivering his opinion, the judge said:

"Woman has a constitutional and a God-given right to ride a bicycle, and they are bound to have some comfortable and appropriate dress therefor. Were Mrs. Noe a woman with one foot in the grave and the other on a pedal; were she of a size that threatened to frighten horses and impede traffic, or were her habiliments the sort originally designed by the woman whose name they bear, I should be disposed to give her the limit of the law. As it is, the case is dismissed at the city's cost."

A Good Subject to Lock Up.

Old Orchard, Me., August 26.—Mrs F. R. Beard, of Andover, Mass., who owns a cottage here, attacked her daughter with a hatchet this morning, inflicting wounds which may prove fatal. The daughter is Miss Josephine Beard, a Boston school teacher. She was in bed at the time of the assault.

A college friend, Miss Winona E. Graffen, of Andover, who was rooming with Miss Beard, received two flesh wounds, which are not considered serious. Miss Graffen escaped in her night clothes and gave an alarm. Temporary insanity is the cause of the act. Mrs. Beard recovered her self possession and this noon accompanied her daughter to a hospital in Portland.

Geese Upset a Bicycle.

Port Jervis, N. Y., August 25.—Two young wheelwomen wearing bloomers, when about to enter the village of Matamoras, early this morning, came suddenly upon a flock of geese. They slowed up, and the geese attacked one of the young women, who wore bloomers.

They plucked so viciously at her wearing apparel that they upset her. It required the help of two small boys and her companion to drive the geese away, after which the women remounted their wheels and returned in the direction of Milford. They were city boarders at a summer resort on the New Jersey side of the river.

No Funeral Needed for Mr. Hail.

Franklin, Pa., August 22—An explosion of nitro glycerine occurred just outside of the city limits at 11:45 this morning. A man named Hail, a resident of Oil city, was driving a wagon loaded with nitro-glycerine to the magazine on the top of bully hill, and was within 150 feet of the building when for some unknown cause, the stuff exploded. The wagon and horses were blown to atoms and not a vestige of Hall's remains are to be found. A hole five feet deep was torn in the earth. The shock was so great in Franklin that windows were blown out and a number of chimneys were knocked down.

—On the farm of Beatty's heirs in Salem township, Westmoreland county, two miles west of New Alexandria, says the Greensburg Tribune, there is an apple tree which is forty-two feet high, seventy and one-half feet north and south, sixty-eight feet east and west and eleven and one half feet in circumference. The first limb runs north and is scarcely six feet from the ground and is forty feet long. The tree is loaded with choice apples, some of which measure nine and three-fourths inches in circumference.

—News of a sensational murder comes from Chadwell, Va. One of Andy Sutton's hogs got into a corn patch belonging to Andy Bowling. Bowling drove it out and was assaulted by Sutton's wife, who began throwing stones at him. The first stone knocked out three of Bowling's teeth, knocking him down and senseless. Mrs. Sutton then climed over the fence between her place and the ground outside the corn lot and struck Bowling a second blow in the temple, killing him instantly.

—Mrs. Max Bierhaum, wife of a Philadelphia broker, who is stopping at the Hotel Majestic, on Virginia avenue, Atlantic City, N. J., was robbed while in bed in her room about 6 o'clock on Saturday morning of $1,200 worth of diamonds. The jewels were taken from a case on the bureau. W. H. Morgan, alias "Dave Martin," alias "Morse," of Chicago, is locked up in the Central station there charged with robbery. The police look upon their capture as one of great importance. They believe the prisoner had an accomplice, as none of the valuables were found upon his person.

New York Fashion Letter.

The most fashionable fabrics for yachting gowns are serge, linen and duck. Beautiful models are made of white linen with wide sailor collars of some bright color. The popular ecru linen collarettes and plastrons are used both for cotton and wool dresses. The skirts are gored, lined with silk and have a stiff interlining half a yard deep. Mohair is the favorite fabric for French cycling costumes. The Knickerbockers are very full and strapped over the knee. The skirts are short and made with several side-pleats or box-pleats. The jackets have full skirts, wide revers and large sleeves, which describes as well, the newest coat for early autumn. The cape will continue to be the most popular garment on account of the continuation of the voluminous sleeve. Both capes and jackets, as well as entire costumes in tailor style, will be braided in the same color or black. The new shades of alpaca are also braided. Novelties in woolen fabrics are checked and plaid crepon in the new colors. The most recent importation of silk are all the varieties of faille and corded silk. Velvets and velvet ribbons appear in great quantities and velvet flowers in all varieties and colors will be used by the modists during the coming season.

The McDowell fashion magazines in which one sees many illustrations of these new fancies are very interesting reading for this month. They give both the Paris and New York fashions and are of invaluable service to the professional as well as to the amateur dressmaker.

"La Mode de Paris" and "Paris Album of Fashion" cost $3.50 each per year's or 35 cents a copy. The "French Dress-maker" is $3.00 per annum or 30 cents a copy; and "La Mode" $1.50 per year or 15 cents a copy. If you are unable to procure either of these journals from your newsdealer do not take any substitute, but apply by mail to Messrs. A. McDowell & Co., 4 West 14th street, New York.

Small Beginnings

Make great endings sometimes. Ailments that we are apt to consider trivial often grow, through neglect, into atrocious maladies, dangerous in themselves and productive of others. It is the disregard of the earlier indications of ill health which leads to the establishment of all sorts of maladies on a chronic basis. Moreover, there are certain disorders incident to the season, such as malaria and rheumatism, against which it is always desirable to fortify the system after exposure to the conditions which produce them. Cold, damp and miasma are surely counteracted by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. After you have incurred risk from these influences, a wineglassful or two of Hosteteer's Stomach Bitters directly afterward should be swallowed. For malaria, dyspepsia, liver complaint, kidney and bladder trouble, nervousness and debility it is the most deservedly popular of remedies and preventives. A wineglassful before meals promotes appetite.

—In the Blair county court at Hollidaysburg on Monday the court sustained the action of the county auditors in surcharging the directors of the poor for several illegal expenditures of the public money. The directors are required to refund $1,900 to the county.

—A soap agent is traveling through the neighboring counties selling a dozen pieces of soap for a dollar and giving as a premium 58 pieces of chinaware. He gets the dollar, the purchaser gets twenty-five cents worth of soap and the dishes never arrive. If he comes around your way set the dog on him.

—The Clearfield Raftman's Journal says: G. C. Piper, of Lock Haven, was in town on Monday morning selling apples to the families who wanted them. They were the finest that have been brought to this place for a long time. Mr. Piper has over 300 trees beading to the ground with fruit. This is the second car load he has sold in Clearfield, and last week sold 200 barrels in Dubois, which is rated as a very poor apple town.

—Michael Nagle, a former resident of this county, died at the residence of Jacob Mouse, in West Wheatfield township, Indiana county, Pa., on Sunday August 18th, aged 77 years. He is survived by a son, Edward Nagle, of Dean township; a daughter, Lucinda Mouse, of Indiana county; a brother, John, of Clearfield township, and by three sisters, Mrs. Julia Kime, Mrs. Susan Plunket and Mrs. Margaret McGough, of Altoona. His remains were interred at Ashville.

—Rosana, wife of William Rodda, died of Bright's disease at her home in Gallitzin on Saturday morning, aged about 54 years. The deceased was a devout Christian lady, having been a member of the Methodist church for 35 years. Besides her husband, she is survived by one son and five daughters—W. H., of Gallitzin; Mrs. W. Watkins, of Punxsutawney; Mrs. James Dehaven, of Altoona; Mrs. Frank Havener, of Dunlo; Mrs. Thomas Blackstock, of Colorado, and Miss Laura at home.

—A queer state of affairs has arisen in Gallitzin, which was recently the seat of so much trouble between the Sisters of St. Joseph and the American Mechanics. After the garb bill passed the school directors insisted upon employing the sisters to teach in the public school building regardless of consequences, but the nuns refused, saying that since the garb bill was a law they would obey it. Since then arrangements have been made for the Sisters to teach in the old church building at that place. All the Catholic citizens of the town agreed to send their children to the Sisters and not to the public schools. As the population of Gallitzin is almost entirely Catholic, the handsome new school building there will be practically deserted.

—One of the best arguments against the too great use of farm machinery is illustrated on the farm of P. B. Crider, near Beech Creek, Centre county. This spring Mr. Crider put out a field of 125 acres of corn and just to experiment he planted the entire field by hand. The field was first marked out in checkers about three feet square, and then planted. The utmost care was exercised and but four grains of corn were put in one hill. The phosphate, of which there was about a ton to every ten acres, was also put in by hand. And now the result far exceeds the expectations of the most sanguine. The corn in fields alongside of Mr. Crider's field is only of the nominal growth, while the corn in Mr. Crider's field is all from twelve to seventeen feet in height and many of the stalks bear two and some even three ears.

—Passenger railway cars Nos. 2 and 9 collided in the Eleventh ward, Johnstown, during a dense fog at about 7 o'clock on Wednesday morning. Motormen Blakely and McFeaters had charge of the cars, and instead of the latter remaining on the siding until the other passed, as he would have done but for the fog, he went on, and the cars met each other before the motormen of either car noticed the other's approach. As the cars came together, in the instant of opportunity, both motormen jumped and escaped injury. Miss Mary Deeting, of Maple avenue, who was on Blakely's car, received severe bruises and was badly shaken up. George Peten, of the Eleventh ward, was cut over the eye by a piece of glass from a broken window and also received a contusion of the hip, and Robert Miller had his left arm sprained. Windows were broken in both cars and the front ends damaged considerably.

The Fair.

The Ebensburg fair opened up on Tuesday and is fell attended for the opening days. The rain on Tuesday, while it put a dampener on the crowd and prevented many people from going, settled the dust and made the roads much more pleasant to drive, and the track, much better than it would otherwise have been.

On Wednesday the weather was fine and the crowd in attendance much larger than the opening day. The balloon ascension was the great attraction of the day and the ascent made by Professor Jewell was one of the most successful and interesting ever made by that well-known aeronaut. After going up several hundred feet he cut loose with his parachute, and while coming down performed a number of acrobatic feats and landed safely near the fair grounds, on the old Carrolltown road.

Professor Jewell will make an ascension in the afternoon of each day.

Marriage Licenses.

The following marriage licenses were issued by the Clerk of the Orphans' Court for the week ending Thursday, Aug. 29, 1895:

Andrew Mangold and Josephine Wirtner, Carrolltown.

Sylvester A. Noon and M. Minnie Lameraux, Morrelville.

Emil M. Frankofsky and Marie Helena Pohl, Johnstown.

Joseph Rhinehart, Johnstown, and Mary E. McLaughlin, Coopersdale.

Frank S. Dontrich and Rose M. Snyder, Figart.

Joseph Smigofsky and Mary Bareha, Johnstown.

Solomon Hofecker and Eliza Barnhart, Upper Yoder township.

William Hunter and Arville B. Letts, Patton.

A 16-year old Husband.

William Cowden, a 16-year-old boy, son of a prominent Blair county citizen, petitioned the court at Hollidaysburg, on Monday for a divorce from his wife, Stella Law. The alegations are that on August 15 he visited Miss Law at her home on North Fifty-first street, Philadelphia. While there he was drugged with liquor and conveyed in a carriage across the ferry to Camden, N. J., where a ceremony of marriage was performed by a Rev. Burrill. The boy further alleges that he did not recover from the effects of the drug until the clergyman demanded his fee of $5. He immediately denounced the ceremony as a farce, and now sues for an absolute divorce.

Thieves About.

Sneak thieves visited the cellar of the residence of Mr. John Owens some time on Monday night and helped themselves to whatever they could lay their hands upon in the way of edibles. A lot of cakes, milk, butter, eggs, and one of two chickens that had been cooked for the purpose of having for dinner cold on Tuesday, were taken, the thieves very considerately leaving one chicken. Mr. Owens has a pretty good idea who the parties are, but whether he will be able to get sufficient evidence to convict them of the larceny is not at present known.

The Pittsburg Exposition 1895.

The Pittsburg Exposition, opening this year, Wednesday, Sept. 4, and closing Saturday, Oct. 19, forty days and nights, will unquestionably excel by far the attractions of all preceding years. A "grand change," as they say in the dance, is being made in the main and machinery buildings, and even the regulars, those who have been accustomed to view the exhibits many times in a season, will open their eyes in surprise.

The artistic improvements in designs of dress fabrics, in headwear, that delight the fair sex, in footwear, in countless kinds of wear, will be seen in profuse array at the stands of the leading Pittsburg merchants. The wonderful designs wrought in wood and glass, in iron, steel and aluminum, evincing the remarkable ingenuity of the age in inventions and manufacture, will entertain the many thousands who wander through the vast enclosures, not to mention the thousands of other products too numerous to single out in a brief article. Then the children, those little darlings, who so like to be whirled around through space, as well as look at pretty things, what is again in store for them? The dear old merry-go-round is still there, and will be moving there when the Exposition opens to give them delight. The grand new switch-back railway, 500 feet in length, with enough exhilarating ups and downs in it to charm a bird, six splendid backs with six handsome cars accomodating ten passengers each, or sixty in all. This brand new out of door attraction will be immensely popular and will be a distinct novelty of the great Exposition.

Then the art gallery for the lovers of art. The features this year, it is promised, will eclipse any yet displayed in the history of the Exposition, and it is well known the quality of the paintings displayed in past years were of the highest merit. Paintings by the world famed artists of Europe will be on exhibition for the first time in this country. These alone will be worth many times the admission.

But music, that great attraction of all attractions, what a treat there is in store! One great band would suffice to bring the thousands, but when such a grand organization as Gilmore's band, under the direction of the great Gilmore successor, Victor Herbert, opens the great affair, and after playing several weeks, is followed by Conterno's 69th Regiment Band of Brooklyn and the only Innes, it would seem that enough has been said to predict that the Pittsburg Exposition of '95 will be a grand and glowing success.

For months a large number of men have been employed in repairing and cleaning the buildings, beautifying the grounds and getting everything in readiness for the opening, which will be an event in the history of Pittsburg.

The interior of the buildings will be beautifully decorated at an enormous expense. In fact, the management has spent money lavishly for the entertainment of visitors, and unless all signs fail, this year's Exposition will be the greatest in point of merit, attendance and entertainment since the foundation of the enterprise.

Special features each day, such as Flower Shows, Billiard Contests between World-Famed Billiardists, Ives, Shaffer, etc., Bicycle Contests, Illuminations, etc., etc., etc., will be a pleasing departure.

The railroads will do everything in their power to give persons within 150 miles of Pittsburg an opportunity to visit this biggest of big shows, and will make liberal reductions in their rates.

A failure to visit the Pittsburg Exposition this year will be an everlasting regret.

Golden Wedding.

A correspondent from Wilmore sends us the following clipping taken from a Kansas paper, but does not give the name or location of the paper. The parties mentioned are well known to a number of our older residents and we cheerfully give it a place in our columns.

It is not often that man and wife are spared to observe their golden wedding, but Mr. and Mrs. William Bruce are numbered among those fortunate couples. They were united in marriage Sunday, August 17th, 1845, at Jefferson, (now Wilmore), Cambria county, Pennsylvania, and Saturday half a century had rolled over their union. At 10 o'clock Saturday morning High Mass was said at the Catholic church, and Rev. Schwan again united Mr. and Mrs. Bruce in marriage. Rev. McCaull, now of Fort Leavenworth, made some appropriate remarks. A choir was present from Leavenworth, and some musicians from the Fort.

A grand dinner was served to a number of invited guests at one o'clock at the Bruce Hotel, and quite a number of people from town and surroundings were present. Some fine presents were bestowed by friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce have had ten children born to them, of whom eight are still living—three daughters and five son—scattered all over the globe, one of them living in Australia. Mr. Bruce served over two years under Scott in the Mexican war, and was an engineer in Pennsylvania when the state owned the railroads. Mr. and Mrs. Bruce located in this county in June, 1860, and have been here ever since.

Died.

SHARP.—Died at his home in Munster township, on Friday August 23, 1895, Mr. George Sharp, aged 44 years and 4 months.

The deceased was a well-known citizen of Munster township, where he had resided the greater portion of his life and was esteemed and respected by all who knew him. His death in the prime of life came unexpected and was a severe shock to his many friends and especially to his aged parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Sharp, both of whom survive him, the former being in his 84 year and was too infirm to attend the funeral of his son which occurred at Loretto on Monday evening. Mr. Sharp had been enjoying his usual good health until a week before his death when he was attacked by cholera morbus and which resulted in a complication of ailments which finally resulted in death.

Besides his aged parents he is survived by one brother, John Sharp, who is division boss on the Ebensburg & Cresson branch railroad, and by one sister, Mary, wife of Jerome Flick, of Allegheny township. May he rest in peace.

Irvona's Tannery Destroyed.

An extensive fire occurred in the town of Irvona, Clearfield county, near the Cambria county line, on Monday night. The principal industry there was a large tannery, and it was destroyed. Word was sent to Altoona, asking for aid, and a company was dispatched to the place, which soon had the flames under control. There was $100,000 worth of bark close at hand, and, if wind had arisen, it would have been greatly endangered.

It is supposed that over two hundred men will be thrown out of employment, and the loss will aggregate about $14,000, fully insured.

Isidore Kingston, an employe of the tannery, was injured seriously. He had tried to put out the fire in its incipiency, when a dust explosion occurred, by which his face and hands were burned.

Democratic Conty Convention.

Pursuant to the call of Chairman L. D. Woodruff, the delegates elected to the Cambria county convention assembled at the court house in this place on Monday last at one o'clock. After being called to order and the roll called, Messrs. C. L. Goodwin, of Dunlo, and T. A. Sharbaugh, of Carrolltown, were elected as tellers, and L. D. Woodruff was elected as presiding officer. The convention at once got down to business and very little time was lost.

Before the nominations were made Chairman Woodruff appointed John A. Blair, E. McGlade, B. O'Hagan, A. Eckenrode and R. E. Cresswell as a committee to report on resolutions.

The following nominations were made by acclamation without opposition:

For District Attorney, James M. Walters, of Johnstown; for Prothonotary, William O'Brien, of Johnstown; for Register and Recorder, D. A. McGough, of Ebensburg.

For Poor Director, John O'Hara, of Munster township; Hiram Orris, of Richland township, and John Long, of Cambria township, were placed in nomination. Mr. O'Hara was nominated on the first ballot, the vote being as follows: O'Hara, 55; Orris, 18; Long, 17.

For Coroner, two candidates, Dr. George Martin, of Conemaugh, and Dr. William Rauch, of Johnstown, were placed in nomination. Dr. Rauch was nominated on the first ballot, the vote being as follows: Rauch, 59; Martin, 26.

For County Surveyor, S. W. Miller, of Johnstown, was nominated by acclamation.

H. A. Englehart, of Ebensburg, was elected chairman of the county committee by acclamation.

For delegates to the state convention James C. Darby, C. L. Goodwin, John A. Blair, James P. Greene, Andrew Eckenrode, Blair Short, R. E. Cresswell, W. G. Comerford, John O'Toole, Herman Baumer, W. J. Donnelly, James P. McBreen and F. Frazer were placed in nomination. A ballot resulted in the election of the following named gentlemen: Andrew Eckenrode, James C. Darby, C. L. Goodwin, Blair Short, John O'Toole and James P. McBreen.

A motion was made to have the delegates go to the convention uninstructed as to how they should vote for candidates for Superior Judges. The motion was amended by instructing for F. J. O'Connor, Esq.; another amendment was made instructing the delegates to vote for W. Horace Rose, Esq. A vote was taken on the latter amendment which the chairman decided was lost. F. J. O'Connor, Esq., was then requested to address the convention and after taking the floor announced that in the interest of harmony he would withdraw his name from the consideration of the convention in order that the delegates be sent to the state convention uninstructed. A vote of thanks was tendered Mr. O'Connor, and on motion of Mr. Itel the motion and amendments in regard to instructions to the delegates were tabled.

The committee on resolutions unanimously reported the following:

The Democratic party of Cambria county in convention assembled reaffirms its adherence to the principles enunciated in the Democratic national platform of 1892 and points with special pride to the effect of national legislation in pursuance thereof which has so marvelously borne out Democratic predictions in securing a speedy return from paralyzed industry to business activity and general prosperity—a change so quick and so great that the history neither of this nor any other country affords a parallel.

We believe in the fundamental principle of "equal rights to all and exclusive privileges to none," and consequently condemn all and every species of paternalism by using national or state legislation for the purpose of promoting "the interest of the few" at the expense of the many.

We believe in honest money, each dollar of which is equal to any other in any and every part of the country, and therefore are opposed to any unsound financial policy savoring of paternalism.

We heartily endorse the firm, wise and patriotic administration of Grover Cleveland and cordially commend the efficient administration of our late Governor Pattison by which enforced the laws of the Commonwealth with impartiality and upheld the rights of the whole people.

We most severely condemn the reckless extravagance and profligacy which characterized our last state legislature, and as citizens of Pennsylvania deplore the prostitution of the present state administration in parceling out judicial appointments to achieve party supremacy, the most corrupt and monumental betrayal of public trust in the history of this Commonwealth which we have as yet been called upon to witness.

A Narrow Escape.

Mr. James Snyder, a native of Carroll township, this county, who has been a resident of Altoona for a number of years, and up until a couple of years ago was engaged with his brother, George Snyder, in conducting the Arlington Hotel, made a narrow escape from death on Saturday afternoon. Mr. Snyder has the contract for the mason work on the new impounding reservoir at Kittanning Point and has been giving it his personal supervision ever since the work was commenced. On Saturday he was on one of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company's shifters at Kittanning Point, and in dismounting from it he stepping directly in front of an eastbound beef train. Fortunately it was running slow at the time, otherwise Mr. Snyder would most probably have been killed.

The engine struck him and he was hurled from the track. He was not seriously injured, although he was badly shaken up. He was under the care of a physician.

DENTISTRY.

Do you know we are taking out teeth every day without one particle of pain?

Well, we are doing this very thing with "Odontunder," the only local anæsthetic that has stood the test and to-day it is the only one that is used universally by dentists who are up to date in their calling.

The price for "Odontunder" when painless is 50 cents, but if you experience the least pain, we only charge you the usual price, 25 cents.

How about those teeth that need filling? Well, you say they don't ache. That's just the reason why you should have them filled now. After they have ached once you will probably have to have the nerve killed and the tooth treated if you are desirious of saving it. We only charge 50 cents for amalgum fillings and from $1.00 up for gold fillings. These are hard-time prices but they go just the same. Why procrastinate?—that's a big word but it's a good one right here because procrastination means the patient loss of sleep, neuralgia, ear-ache, tooth-ache and goodness knows what else. We know of a good many young ladies of our acquaintance who would have been married long ago if it hadn't been for those horrid-looking teeth. Remember, to-very patient having teeth filled I give a box of Dr. Richards' tooth powder and full instructions for the care of the teeth. On the 13th of each month I will extract teeth free of charge. You say why on the 13th? Well, now, that's my business. All you have to do is to come. Remember I won't take out your good teeth, because I don't believe in it. Then you say suppose the 13th falls on Sunday. Come right along and we will be only too glad to relieve you of the offending member.

TWO TICKETS LIKELY.

A Dual Convention Probable at Harrisburg Today.

QUAY APPEARS TO BE WINNER.

Both Sides Hold a Caucus and Quay's Roll of Delegates Shows a Majority—The Gilkeson Crowd Captures Convention Hall—Compromise Talked Of.

HARRISBURG, Aug. 28.—The anxiously anticipated caucuses of the two factions of the state Republican party have been held, and the results thereof make it appear certain that Senator Quay has a majority of the legally elected delegates, and has therefore won his fight. The Quay caucus determined to hold a separate convention, and unless there is a compromise two conventions will meet.

The prospect of an exciting battle has attracted to Harrisburg many of the roughest element from the larger cities, and trouble is looked for, although there has been nothing more serious than an occasional fist fight. Aside from the announcement that Quay has a majority of the delegates, and that there will probably be two conventions, the news feature has been the capture of the opera house, where the convention was to be held by the anti-Quay people.

A dramatic company was holding forth at the operahouse. Chairman Gilkeson is said to have received information that the Quay people had planned to fill the house with "heelers," who would refuse to leave at the end of the performance, and remain all night, thus gaining posession of the house. To circumvent this move, Chairman Gilkeson bought off the theatrical company, and securing the keys from the lessee, placed in the house about 100 policemen, firemen, special officers and other determined men, who arrived from Pittsburg under charge of Superintendent of Police Roger O'Mara of that city. Their meals were sent in to them, and they remained in the house all night.

Today's convention is to select candidates for state treasurer and superior judges. B. J. Haywood of Mercer county will probably be chosen for state treasurer, but it is possible that the six judges who were appointed by Governor Hastings, and who it was thought would be unopposed for the nomination, will find themselves cast aside by the Quay people and new men named for their places. Among the dark horses named are Judges Wilhelm of Schuylkill, Davenport of Erie, Stewart of Franklin, Crumrine of Washington and Schaefer of Delaware.

The state committee when it met received from the Quay caucus the request for a separate convention. The request was referred to a sub-committee, who it is understood, will endeavor to arrive at an amicable agreement with the anti-Quay leaders, whereby only one convention may be held.

It is also understood that the Quay people have engaged the hall over the Chestnut Street markethouse, which seats 500 persons, and will hold their convention there if the effort to arrive at an amicable agreement with the anti-Quay people fails.

The anti-Quay leaders are claiming that there were 153 delegates at their caucus, although there was no rollcall, and that the Quay people worked the old trick of answering to the names of delegates who were not present. The anti-Quayites say their forces remain unshaken, and that they had 152 uncontested delegates at their caucus, a majority of seven.

The anti-Quay people got together first for their caucus, but their session was a secret and short one, lasting about ten minutes.

The caucus of the Quay delegates met in the Quay headquarters, and the reporters for the newspapers were admitted. On motion of Walter Lyon of Pittsburg, Senator Penrose of Philadelphia was made chairman and Senator Kennedy secretary.

The roll of delegates was then called and 152 whose seats are uncontested answered to their names. The five contestants from Philadelphia and one from Wyoming county were called and their votes recorded. When the name of Henry R. Shultz of Philadelphia was called, United States District Attorney Ingham of Philadelphia stated that he had a telegram from Mr. Shultz, saying that he had missed the train, but if in Harrisburg he would be with Quay. His name was added, making a total of 159 delegates for Quay, six of whom are contestants, leaving 153, or eight more than the 145 necessary to elect. The list is as follows:

Allegheny, Lyon, Torrence, Kennedy; Armstrong, Barr, Jackson; Beaver, Moulds, May, Corbus; Bedford, Zeth; Berks, Fawling, Jennings, Kauffman, Ehst, Fryberger; Blair, Raymond, Anderson; Bradford, Storms, Kintner, C. Total, 152.

New Trust's Purchase Confirmed.

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—The sale of the whisky trust's plants has been confirmed by the federal court. Judge Seaman has entered the order substantially as presented by the counsel for the American Spirits Manufacturing company. The opposition endeavored to secure an appeal from the action of the court, but it was refused. The new organization has now no legal hindrance in the way of engaging in business.

Long Must Hurry His Appeal.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—Judge Charles D. Long of the supreme court of Michigan, who appealed from the decision of the court of appeals of the District of Columbia in his pension case to the supreme court of the United States, has not yet perfected his appeal by filing the record, and the attorney general has served notice on him that unless he does so by Sept. 10 he will have the appeal dismissed.

Bullfight Promoter Arrested.

DENVER, Aug. 28.—J. H. Wolfe of Cripple Creek, the promoter of the Gillette bullfight, has been arrested and taken to Colorado Springs. He was unable to furnish bonds and is now in the El Paso county jail at the Springs. Officers have been sent to Gillette to arrest the Mexican bullfighters, together with the Meadows boys, Arizona Charlie and the Kid.

BOSTON'S GREAT GALA DAY.

The Knights' Parade Lasted Five Hours Thousands Saw It.

BOSTON, Aug. 28.—All Boston is discussing the greatest gala day the city has ever seen. For more than five hours the principal avenues were occupied by plumed Knights Templar, and hundreds of thousands of spectators obligingly crowded onto the sidewalks to give them room. The day was a fine one, and at no time was the heat great enough to cause much discomfort. There were none too many grand stands to accommodate the immense throng that clamored for seats, although almost every foot of available space along the line of march had been covered with platforms and seats.

The Knights presented a splendid appearance on parade, and with very few exceptions, completed the entire line of march. As they passed the reviewing stands before Grand Commander McCurdy and Governor Greenalge, and later before Chief Marshal Lawrence and Mayor Curtis, many of them executed intricate military evolutions, which won the admiration of the thousands who witnessed them. These tactics were also introduced by the more proficient commanderies at intervals along the line of march. Great admiration was expressed at the appearance of the California and other western delegations.

Last evening was given up by the Knights to general merry-making. There were banquets and receptions galore, and at every headquarters open house was in order. The conclave was officially opened by exercises in Masonic temple immediately after the close of the parade. Today the serious business of the conclave is in order.

THE SIOUX CITY TRAGEDY.

Arrests Made as Double Murder and Robbery Is Suspected.

SIOUX CITY, Ia., Aug. 28.—Startling developments have come to light in connetion with the double tragedy in which Max Noack and Ira Minter, alias Hazel Hammond, lost their lives. The most important find is the discovery of the imprint of a strange man's hand on the dust in the room in which the bodies were found and an exit to the alley below, which had not been noticed before. A hammer with what appears to be human blood on it has also been found. It is now thought that this hammer figured in the killing. The theory of double murder with robbery as the motive is regarded as fully confirmed.

Warrants have been sworn out charging Maud Boyle, proprietress of the house where the murder occurred, and Dan Berry, a pugilist who formerly lived in Omaha, with murder in the first degree, and they were both placed under arrest.

A telegram from Shelton, Neb., says Noack was the son of a wealthy farmer living near that city. The dead girl was a prominent member of the Methodist church at Central City, Neb., where her father lives, and moved in the best society there before coming here three months ago.

JURISTS AT DETROIT.

A Distinguished Gathering at the American Bar Association Convention.

DETROIT, Aug. 28.—An intellectual looking assembly of 300 leading jurists and members of the bar were present in Y. M. C. A. hall when President James C. Carter of New York called to order the eighteenth annual convention of the American Bar association. After thanking the Detroit representatives of the profession for the cordial receptions tendered the visitors the president read a short list of the most noted jurists present, who were invited to seats upon the platform. President Carter then proceeded with the reading of his address.

Following the president's address the executive committee reported the election of 27 new members during the past year. The general council reported its approval of 128 nominations for membership, all of whom were thereupon elected unanimously. The secretary reported 1,144 members on the roll besides those elected today and during the year. A balance of $1,700.36 was shown by the report of the treasurer.

THREE STRIKERS SHOT

They Beat a Man Who Worked Where They Quit.

FIRED AMONG HIS ASSAILANTS.

The Strike Leader Will Die of His Wounds. Was a Coxeyite and Participated In the Chicago Riots—Lively Time Occurs at Wapakoneta, O.

WAPAKONETA, O., Aug. 28.—The strike here on the waterworks trenches has developed into a tragedy, and three men, Joshua Tiller of Pittsburg, Albert Seifert and Oscar Voorhees of this place, have been shot, Tiller through the bowels, Seifert through the arm and the latter through the hand. Tiller will die. The men went on a strike and declared no one should go to work until their demands were satisfied. Some of them went to work anyway, but were driven out.

The trustees and the contractor ordered Lewis Vanskiver and another party to fill some trenches and cover some pipe in the Second ward. They began work and a crowd of strikers congregated and commenced beating Vanskiver over the head with clubs and shovel handles, breaking the largest ones by force of the blows. After he had been struck several times he drew a revolver from his pocket and fired into his assailants three times with the above results. Several of the participants have been arrested and the officials are after others.

Vanskiver is a resident of this place and is considered a good, straight fellow, and public sentiment is apparently with him. Other men will be brought in and put to work immediately, and every man connected with the assault is being arrested.

Dr. John Nichols has just announced that the ball passed entirely through Tiller's intestines and says he only has a few hours to live. Tiller was apparently the leader of the strike and was with Coxey on his march and in the Chicago riots.

RANSOM AGAIN MINISTER.

The President Sends the Mexican Representative a New Commission.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—The president has granted a new commission to Matt W. Ransom, United States minister to Mexico. This ends a legal complication, by which Minister Ransom, after several months' service at his post at the City of Mexico, was declared ineligible to fill the office to which he had been appointed prior to the expiration of his term as United States senator. It was held by the treasury accounting officers that he fell within a constitutional inhibition against the appointment of congressmen to offices created, or whose emoluments had been increased, during their services in congress.

It has been generally understood that Mr. Ransom would be promptly reappointed, and the slight delay which has occurred presumably has been for the purpose of definitely ascertaining that there was no more legal or other obstacles in the way of renaming Mr. Ransom to the Mexican mission. The minister was in Washington a few days ago, but is now in North Carolina recuperating from an attack of illness, due in part to the climate of the City of Mexico.

TERROR AMONG ARMENIANS.

They Fear Turks Will Punish Them For Brigands' Crime.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 23.—Advices received here from Erzinghian say that great terror prevails among the Armenians there owing to the attitude of the Turkish authorities. The latter, in consequence of an attack which was recently made by brigands upon a Turkish colonel, during which a member of the escort was killed, are believed to be taking steps which will have most serious consequences.

The Armenians are accused of being the authors of the attack on the colonel, and it is alleged that a large force of Turkish troops has been retaliating by attacking the villages and monasteries of the vicinity and engaging in other acts of violence. The Armenians, fearing a recurrence of the Sassoun outrages, have appealed to the ambassadors of the powers at Constantinople for protection.

PITEZEL BOY'S BODY.

It Is Found In a Barn Near Indianapolis.

HOLMES WAS HIS MURDERER.

People Recognize His Face From His Picture as Living With Little Howard at the House Adjoining—The Murderer's Trunk Also at the House.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 28.—Indianapolis will claim the right to try H. H. Holmes for murder. This claim will be based upon horrible developments, which include the finding of the charred remains of Howard Pitezel, and evidence which, before any jury in the country, would convict H. H. Holmes of having murdered him and then partially burned his body in a stove.

Detectives Geyer of Philadelphia, Richards of Indianapolis and Inspector Gary of the Fidelity Insurance company, after weeks of fruitless search, went to Irvington, a pretty suburb of the city, and the seat of Butler college, and before they had been at work an hour their attention was called by a local real estate dealer to a small vacant cottage situated in the woods at the edge of the town and far removed from any other dwelling. The party went to the house, and a few minutes later the officers found beneath the side porch the missing trunk which was taken from the side door of the Circle House, in this city, Oct. 10, by H. H. Holmes, and which was thought to contain the body of the boy.

In a barn connected with the house was a large stove of cylinderical shape, of the same pattern as Holmes bought in Cincinnati. He rented the house under the same alias. The stove had been moved from the house to the stable by the owner of the house after Holmes left. It was at once concluded that the body had been burned in the stove and search began for the remains.

Later attention was called to the stovehole where the stovehole had been. It was filled with refuse. This was pulled out and the remains of the boy were found. In this pit of refuse hundreds of pieces of charred bones were found. The teeth showed that the body was that of a boy between 8 and 10 years of age, and all the other bones confirmed this. All were charred and pieces of flesh cling to some of them. The skull bones and pelvis added to the same convincing truth.

The body had evidently been burned in a cob fire and in the huge stove in the barn. Howard's overcoat was found at a grocerystore nearby, where Holmes had left it saying the boy would call for it. He never came. Owners of the house recognize Holmes from pictures, and several neighbors recognized his face.
